German General Admits They Have Been "On Brink Of Defeat"!

Street Fighting Proceeding In Tilly

The German Forces Radio to-day broadcast a talk by Lieutenant General Dittmar, spokesman of the German High Command, stating "we have been on the brink of defeat".

General Dittmar added: "There is no denying the wounds which have been inflicted on us. We have been on the brink of defeat but our spiritual strength has saved us. It has not been possible to stave off war on several fronts. Very soon unless we are much mistaken the war on the Russian front will enter its decisive phase. We await future with calm confidence in the knowledge of our renewed strength and our steadfastness in the past. For all of us duty now calls."

GERMANS' NEW WEAPON

WITH A BRITISH ADVANCE FORCE IN NORMANDY:

The Germans are using another new weapon on this front, but it is not succeeding. It is a rocket propelled anti-tank shell which can be used by the infantry. Only one man is needed to fire it. The weapon consists of a tube about four feet long with an 88 millimetre shell at the nose. Several of these shells have been captured.

British troops are now occupying the north end of hotly-contested Tilly. The Germans are at the other end of the town. A battle is raging up and down the streets. Heavy fighting continues from Tilly to Caen.

30,000 GERMANS SURROUNDED

But Progress May Not Be Easy In Cherbourg Peninsula

From Reuter's War Correspondent at the Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force (Monday):

The Allied wedge across Normandy to isolate Cherbourg peninsula is being consolidated to meet any reaction by the Germans either from north or south. So far there are no indications that such counter-attacks are imminent but Commanders on the spot are pouring troops into the gap which has been cut through the base of the peninsula to strengthen and deepen the breach hemming in about thirty thousand Germans in the north. It was emphasised at Supreme Headquarters this morning, however, that the peninsula, particularly the port and fortress is extremely, heavily and elaborately fortified and progress northwards may not be easy.

'CUT FROM COAST TO COAST'

The advance of the land force to Barneville—and they have now reached the sandy beaches on the west coast of the peninsula—has forced the enemy to withdraw both to north and to south. The limited roads have produced congestion which provided an excellent target for the Allied air forces which took full advantage of the opportunity. It is regarded as satisfactory that there has been no immediate enemy reaction to the breaching of the peninsula.

In their efforts to broaden the breach the Allied forces will undoubtedly make big efforts to reach the high ground to the south which is of great importance in relation to any advance towards La Haye du Puits, the important road junction that connects with Barneville and Carentan. A tremendous number of men and material will naturally be required to provide for defence in depth in a breach which has been cut from coast to coast. Allied troops are now advancing down the river Vire in the Carentan area and have passed the junction of the Taute canal.

No important moves in the Gaumont area are reported but there has been more fighting in the Tilly area. East of Tilly there have been minor attacks with limited gains by the Allied forces. In this area the enemy put in a counter-attack yesterday but achieved no results. West of Tilly there was another attack by a British formation on this morning I was told that advanced elements of the division engaged are fighting in Tilly itself. There is, however, no official confirmation of this report at the Headquarters. In Caen area generally there have been minor actions during the last twelve hours with fighting.

WHERE IS THE 'LUFTWAFFE'?

Yesterday was a Fighter Bomber day in the assault areas in Normandy. Typhoon-carrying bombers known to their fliers as "Bomb Typhoons", Mosquitos and Thunderbolts swept down on the roads running north and south of the cut across the peninsula established by the Americans and gunned and bombed the Germans withdrawing north and south for regrouping. There were two interesting features both encouraging to the Allies. The airmen found a good deal of slow moving horse transport. The presence of horse-drawn transport is probably attributable to some extent to the desperate German efforts to overcome the problem of badly battered road communications and they may also be using it as auxiliary to more modern methods. The second feature was the almost entire absence of the Luftwaffe. Although ninth air force fighters made more than one thousand individual attacks they encountered only two enemy aircraft.

ENEMY BATTERY SILENCED

The weather prevented medium and heavy bombers having a bombing day yesterday and so the Allies resorted to intensive fighter and fighter bomber attacks. The role of the fighter bombers and fighters was similar to that perfected in North Africa. Their work throughout the day was carried on with effectiveness. Their work is carried out sometimes from two hundred or one hundred feet or even lower and they are dropping deadly fragmentation bombs. Bridges and road junctions and rail centres were hit. The enemy battery at Houigate west of Oustreham about eight miles east of the eastern flank of the Allied bridgehead has previously been bombarded by the big guns of navy. The battleship Ramillies has now given it another hammering and for more than 36 hours British and Canadians on that sector of the bridgehead are not being worried from shellfire from this battery.—Reuter.

Counter-Attacks Repulsed

S. H. A. E. F. June 19.

American and Allied troops are strengthening their hold on the Cherbourg peninsula. The Ninth United States Division has repulsed a heavy counter-attack against the Allied corridor across the peninsula base in the area of Saint Jean de Nehoue. Despite this savage counter-attack there is no evidence tha the Germans are making an all-out effort to smash back at the Allied hold on the peninsula base.

CHINDIT-CHINESE TROOPS ADVANCE TOWARDS MOGAUNG

Increased Allied Pressure On Kohima Front; Clearing Of Road To Imphal

KANDY, June 19.

Chinese and Chindit troops have advanced closer to Mogaung, says to-day's South-East Asia Command communique.' The Chinese have reached the north bank of the Mogaung River opposite the town while the Chindits are holding a village bordering it on the east.

South of Kamaing, Chinese troops engaged three enemy parties totalling 66, all but two of whom they killed.

In the Myitkyina area, local gains have been made from the north, south and west. South of Myitkyina, a Chinese unit tunnelled to the rear of an enemy party and destroyed it.

On the Kohima front, our pressure on the Japanese has increased and 20 miles of the road to Imphal have now been cleared. A 75 M. M. gun and large quantities of ammunition have been captured.

In the Palel-Tamu sector, there has been increased activity and our troops have carried out a number of successful ambushes and raids.

On the Tiddim Road, south of the enemy's forward positions, a patrol shot up Japanese motor transport, destroying much of it and inflicting many casualties.

Fighter Pilots Combat 'Pilotless' Plane Menace

From Reuter's special correspondent with the Allied Expeditionary Air Forces: "Spitfire" pilots are now co-operating with Anti-Aircraft Command to combat the pilotless plane menace. The efforts of both are meeting with success.

While anti-aircraft gunners now seem to have their measure, they are also easy targets for fighter pilots who can choose their time to attack so that the planes fall into open country. They offer almost sitting targets to fighters who should be able to make Hitler's secret weapon as futile as a propaganda measure as it is for military purposes.—Reuter.

Gandhiji snapped at Dr. Dinshaw's Nature Cure Clinic at Poona.

U. S. Govt. Official To See Gandhiji

POONA, June 19.

Mr. Lauto Barry, Secretary of the office of the Personal Representative of the President of the U.S.A. in India is likely to visit Gandhiji during the latter's stay in Poona.

Owing to the heavy crowds which were present at prayer time yesterday, prayers are being held from to-day in the large maidan just to the west of the Nature Cure Clinic. Loud-speakers have been installed.

Dr. Syamprasad Mookharjee is likely to visit Poona during the first week of July. Dr. Mookharjee is going to Bangalore in the beginning of July and May visit Poona 'en route' to Delhi where he is going to attend the meeting of the Working Committee of the All-India Hindu Mahasabha.—United Press.

Gandhiji Has Restful Day

POONA, June 19.

Mahatma Gandhi spent a restful day today. Except for an early morning drizzle disturbing his sleep last night, sleeping as he did in the open compound of his cottage, Gandhiji slept well. The fine weather that is prevailing in Poona and the very few number of visitors that he is having seem to give Gandhiji more rest than he was having at Juhu in Bombay.

Sir Chunilal V. Mehta and Mrs. Indira Gandhi called upon Mahatmaji today.

MRS NAIDU IN POONA

Mrs. Sarojini Naidu arrived here this evening from Bombay. She will be seeing Gandhiji tomorrow and is expected to stay till 24th inst.—A. P.

IF GANDHIJI RETURNS TO JAIL"!

League Leader Says "It Would Be Painful And Humiliating"

SRINAGAR, June 19.

"If Gandhiji returns to jail it would be a painful and humiliating confession that we cannot solve our own problem", said Mr. M. H. Gazdar, Home Minister of Sind and a prominent Muslim League member, in a press interview.

Mr. Gazder added: "To the best of our knowledge no concrete efforts have yet been made or regular proposals put forward by Gandhiji for a Congress-League settlement. With his Congress-League settlement. With him it would be absurd to expect any sympathy from British or American quarters. Our strength lies in uniting the Hindus and Muslims."

Asked why Mr. Jinnah did not reply to Gandhiji's letter, Mr. Gazdar said: "We all expected that Gandhiji would not release his letter to the press without first sending a copy to Mr. Jinnah in common courtesy and waiting for his reply."

Mr. Gazdar added: "Since Gandhiji characterised Pakistan as sinful I don't think it is fair for us to expect Mr. Jinnah to make an approach. The initiative in this matter still lies with Gandhiji."—United Press.

FULL VICTORY THIS SUMMER, HINTS CHURCHILL

"Tactical Surprise Achieved Both In N. Africa And Normandy"

LONDON, June 19.

Full victory may come this summer, hinted the Prime Minister Mr. Churchill in one of the most optimistic of his recent speeches. The speech made at the Mexican Embassy last Thursday was released today.

Mr. Churchill said, "It may be that events will occur in the next few months which will show us whether we are soon to be relived of the curse which has been laid upon us by the Germans. The end will be more terrible for our foes, the longer their struggle continues."

Referring to the invasion of Normandy, Mr. Churchill continued that the plans agreed upon the Teheran had not yet all been put into operation "but they are being steadily unrolled and the months of summer may, by the victories of this Allied campaign, bring full success to the cause of freedom."

Mr. Churchill expressed regret for the inconvenience caused to diplomats by the ban placed upon them but it was essential that the secrets of military preparations be kept. Both in North Africa and Normandy tactical surprise was achieved.—Reuter.

"Greater Part Of Elba" In French Hands

AGREEMENT REACHED BETWEEN MARSHAL TITO & YUGOSLAV PREMIER

Mediterranean Allied Force Advance Hq, June 19:—

Fifth Army troops are ten miles north of Grosseto, according to to-day's "communique".

GERMAN REARGUARDS PUSHED BACK

LONDON, June 19: The German Overseas News Agency reported to-day "German rearguards have been pushed back to the eastern part of the Island of Elba".

French troops have captured Porto Ferraio and now hold greater part of the Island of Elba according to a special "communique" to-day from General Alexander's Headquarters.

The special "communique" said "During June 18th French troops have made further substantial progress in spite of determined German resistance and they now hold the greater part of the island. Porto Ferraio has been captured and several hundred prisoners including a number of German officers have been taken".

SUBASIO-TITO AGREEMENT

A special Allied "communique" reports that agreement has been reached on many problems between Marshal Tito and Doctor Subasio, premier of the Royal Yugoslav Government.

NAZI OFFENSIVE IN BOSNIA

Eight thousand Germans, Chetniks and Ustachi were killed during the German offensive in Western Bosnia between May 25 and June 12 according to this morning's "communique" from Marshal Tito's Headquarters. As a result of the completion of this offensive, the Croat provinces of Kordun and Banija have been completely cleared of German troops.

Yugoslav forces captured considerable booty the "communique" stated. Allied airforce rendered effective aid to Partisan troops.

FIGHTING IN SERBIA

In Eastern Bosnia, the Germans lost 1,500 men in the fighting in Majewica mountains. The Germans are bringing up reinforcements.

In Serbia, fighting continues in the area of Sagkovac. Aerodromes and several planes on the ground were destroyed and thousands of gallons of petrol went up in flames. A great number of German soldiers were killed in the fighting at Leskovac where a train was derailed and a railway station destroyed.

In Sandjak, the Germans supported by tanks succeeded in capturing several villages south of Pleylje but were eventually driven back to the initial position sustaining heavy losses.—Reuter.

NEW ITALIAN GOVT.

From Reuter's special correspondent in Rome the New Italian Government under Signor Ivanoe Bonomi has now taken over-power after receiving the approval of all Allied Governments represented on the Advisory Council.

The decision terminating the prolonged delay was taken on the advice of the Council on Saturday.

The correspondent adds that the names of the members of Bonomi's new Government were announced on June 11 but since then nothing was heard of its activities. The correspondent in a message on Thursday said it was rumoured that the transfer of powers by Marshal Badoglio to his successor had not proceeded smoothly. —Reuter

Delhi Accused Get 18 Months R. I. For Illegal Literature; Case Against Mrs. Asaf Ali To Continue

NEW DELHI June 19.

Raj Singh Rana, Malkhan Singh and Shanker Lal were awarded an aggregate sentence of 18 months' rigorous imprisonment on four different counts under Defence of India Rules and Subversive Activities' Ordinance by Mr. C. H. Disney, Additional District Magistrate, Delhi. Mrs. Aruna Asaf Ali who was a co-accused in the case is absconding.

The accused were arrested on the night of January 24/25, 1944 when the C. I. D. Police raided a house in Qarol Bagh, and claimed to have rounded up the accused while they were busy manufacturing unauthorised literature. It is stated that the C. I. D. also recovered a large quantity of unauthorised literature, several copies of a pamphlet entitled "Hamara Sangram", a hand press and several documents alleged to be in the handwriting of Mrs. Asaf Ali.

The Magistrate, in his judgment, observed that the proceedings which had been started under Section 87 and 88 of the Cr. P. C. against Mrs Asaf Ali would continue. There was evidence to show that some of the manuscripts recovered by the police from the house were in her handwriting which the Government Examiner also certified. 'Prima facie,' therefore, the Judge saw, Mrs. Asaf Ali was equally guilty.

The Magistrate also convicted Fayyaz Ali and Muzaffar Khan on the charge of possessing unauthorized leaflets and sentenced them to three months' rigorous imprisonment. Kanahya Lal, another accused, was acquitted.

The accused were arrested from a house in Qarol Bagh in February, 1943.—A. P.

Russians On Viborg Threshold Of

Finnish Units Being Hurled Back On Ancient Castle City

MOSCOW, June 19.

"We are on the threshold of Viborg", said a frontline dispatch to Moscow this morning.

Reuter's special correspondent at Moscow cables: Red Army tanks and infantry to-day are pouring through the broken Mannerheim Line to join the general advance on Viborg which is less than 15 miles to the north. Broken Finnish units, their nerves worn to tatters by more than a week of almost incessant bombardment from land and air are being hurled back on the ancient castle city the capture of which by the Red Army in 1940 was followed soon after by the acceptance of the Soviet peace terms. Soviet planes are shuttling to and from across the broken Finnish defences pouring a hail of machine-gun fire on Finnish rearguards.

Fresh Soviet troops have moved up to take over the drive on Viborg. This change-over was made durnig the night when assault troops who had been resting took over from columns marching on the city allowing them to snatch a brief respite.

General Govrov is bent on a lightning campaign and so far he has succeeded all along the line.

The latest reports of the fighting indicate fanatical stands at some points—chaos and retreat at others with every sign that the Finns have nothing in reserve to match their broken triple line of defences on the Isthmus side of Viborg.

The scene on Viborg roads to-night is of beaten troops trying vainly to hold back their remorseless foe and neither road-blocks nor groups of Finnish sharp-shooters left perched on trees have so far done any more than slow the Soviet advance.

In their hour of need it is reported that the Finns have appealed to the Germans for increased assistance, particularly in planes. But none is forthcoming so far. General Dietl in northern Finland is sitting tight—for him Petsamo is more important than Viborg or any other Finnish town in the south.—Reuter.

A THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

If you can mend the cause, set about it. If not, mend the thing itself. If you cannot do even that, what are you the better for grumbling? Now a man should never do anything to no purpose.

—Marcus Aurelius.

The Bombay Chronicle

PUBLISH IT

The text of the correspondence exchanged between Mahatma Gandhi and Lord Wavell, while the former was a detenu, has been published in the Press this week. Before the publication of this correspondence, the editor of this paper received from Mahatma Gandhi copies of the entire correspondence in two volumes, that passed between him and the Governments of India and Bombay during his incarceration in the Aga Khan's Palace in Poona. The two volumes, both together consisting of about 250 typed foolscap sheets, were accompanied by a covering letter by Gandhiji which we reproduce below as it is by no means confidential:

I send you herewith in two volumes copies of correspondence between the Government of India or the Bombay Government and myself during my incarceration in the Palace of H. H. the Aga Khan in Yeravada.

The second volume is a copy of my reply to the Government of India pamphlet entitled "Congress Responsibility for the Disturbances 1942-43." The first contains copies of correspondence arising out of the abovementioned reply and on miscellaneous matters of public importance.

I had the copies cyclostyled with the help of kind friends. For fear of censorship difficulties, I did not try to have the copies printed at any printing press. But lest the Government of India may think that there is anything in the correspondence objectionable from military standpoint I am circulating for private use only the copies among friends who, I think, should know the nature of the correspondence that took place between the two Governments and me. You are free to show your copy to any friends you like, subject to the precaution that applies to you.

You will confer on me a favour if you will take the trouble of letting me have your reaction upon the correspondence especially upon the points arising from my reply to Government of India pamphlet. I have endeavoured to answer every item of importance in the Government indictment. I should like to know the points, if any, which require elucidation.

It is clear from the letter that only a delicate consideration not to embarrass the war effort of the authorities in any way has prevented Gandhiji from giving publicity to these documents which he was morally entitled to do. The correspondence between Gandhiji and Lord Wavell, which the Government have permitted the Associated Press of India to release for publication, is only a small part of the contents of the two volumes, the most important portion of which is Gandhiji's detailed reply extending over 100 pages, to the charges against him and the Congress contained in the Government of India's publication "Congress Responsibility for the disturbances of 1942-43". Whatever may have been the reasons that prompted Government's refusal to publish the correspondence—Gandhiji had asked for such publication—while he was in detention, there can be no justification for continuing the ban now that he is a free man. The publication of the correspondence with Lord Wavell makes it all the more imperative that the entire correspondence should be published. We have read the entire correspondence very closely and carefully and we find nothing in it that is calculated to impede the war effort. On the contrary, having regard to the fact that it covers a wide range of matters of public importance, justice and expediency demand that it should be released for publication without any delay.

Porbander Reforms

The constitutional reforms introduced in the Porbander State have some novel features which deserve more than passing notice. Porbander is a small maritime State of Western India with an area of 642 square miles, a population of about 150,000, and a public revenue of Rs. 26,00,000. But though the State is small the influence of the constitutional changes on other States of Western India may be considerable, particularly the influence of the novel experiments in the field of representation. Under the new reforms there will be a Rajasabha or Legislative Council of about thirty members of whom only six will be nominated by the Ruler. Of the other 24 seats, 11 will go to the following Social Units, which are castes or caste groups: Koli, Khoja, Nagar, Parsi, Brahmin, Memon, Mehr, Rajput, Lohana, Vanik and Vohra. Ten seats will be given one each to the following occupational or other non-communal units: The artisans, the sailors, cattle owners, weavers, industries, merchants' association, Bhayats, 16 Mehr Pasait villages, other holders of alienated lands and the municipalities in the State. Territorial seats will be only three, assigned to the three Mahals (districts) of the State, but the representation of each Mahal is to be a cultivator. The object in assigning half the elected seats to occupations is obviously to counteract the influence of communalism which is becoming rampant in the country. And for that very reason the experiment, if successful, may be of great use even far outside the State. But we fear that the very communalism which is sought to be counteracted in one way is being accentuated in another way, namely, the formation of the 11 so-called "social units" on purely caste or communal basis. Moreover, we are told that the representative of each unit or constituency will be its own Patel or Mukhi (i.e. Headman) and elected in accordance with the ancient system of open voting by the heads of families only. This appears to suggest that the candidates for election must be Patels who may in various way be susceptible to influences emanating from the Ruler.

As regards the Executive, there will be two elected Ministers responsible to the Legislature and administering many important subjects including even Police, Finance and Industrial Development. These two will be selected by the Ruler from a panel of four members of the Legislative Council elected by the Council. There will be a third Minister, who will be the Chief Minister and will not be responsible to the Legislature. The number of Transferred subjects is fairly large for a State and the responsibility of the elected Ministers is a notable advantage. All things considered, the new reforms, however, defective constitute a good step forward. In the near future the political atmosphere in the whole country will be such as to enable the people of the States in general to make considerable constitutional progress. If appreciable progress is made even now, in all States, its later stages will be surer and smoother than they may otherwise be.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

No Walk-Over

Certain facts about the invasion of Normandy had, during its early stage, probably to be suppressed lest they might encourage the Germans and jeopardise the success of the enterprise. They are now gradually coming into light. From what has already been revealed, it is obvious that the launching of the Second Front was a far from easy affair. In fact, it proved more difficult and costly than was anticipated even by the carefully calculating General Staffs of America and Britain. This is a sobering thought and the revelations ought to curb the complacence and super-optimism of those who believed, and particularly of those bright and breezy correspondents who reported, that the Atlantic Wall and German defences were a ridiculous myth which exploded at the first blast and that, hereafter, it would be a sort of walk-over, with occasional obstacles and some trouble, for the invading forces. The Americans have revealed that upto midnight of Friday last, American casualties number 15,883 of which 3,283 were known dead and 12,600 wounded. It should be noted that figures of missing are not given. They, too, must constitute a considerable number specially since thousands were dropped from the air far behind the enemy lines. The total casualties must thus exceed 20,000. And this is only the American side. British and Canadian casualties have not been published. Considering that some of the severest fighting has so far occurred in the Anglo-Canadian sector, casualties cannot be in any case lower than those of the Americans.

Tank Losses

40 to 50 thousand dead and wounded is not an ordinary loss. But the Allied staffs expected it. It is the heavy cost in armour that is significant. According to a Washington report, the Military High Command has ordered "extremely heavy" increase in production of tanks because of reports from the invasion beach-head that expenditure in tanks is running three times the anticipated rate (our italics). This is, of course due to the strong resistance offered by the Germans and their defences. But it is also due to the fact that the Allies are handicapped by lack of a good port. Once they secure it, they can land material without losing a lot and they can also bring into the battle heavy equipment which will help increase the rate of their progress and reduce the rate of losses. That is why the capture of Cherbourg is to be looked forward to with keen interest.

A French Snub

The other day Mr. Winston Churchill deprecated any Parliamentary debate on Anglo-American-French relations on the ground that it would cause widespread pain. He thereby definitely insinuated that the whole trouble was due to the conduct of General de Gaulle and the French Committee of such a nature that a public exposure of it would rudely surprise the best friends of France apart from actually prejudicing the course of the war. General de Gaulle has, for his part, been less unfair. In a speech at a special session of the Consultative Committee at Algiers he just hinted at differences by mentioning indirectly the lack, on the part of others, of "full and entire comprehension" of the French position. Another speaker, significantly, a "resistance delegate", was, however, more outspoken. "The restoration of popular sovereignty," he declared, "is a French affair under the sole conduct of the Provisional Government of the Republic under General de Gaulle." This was obviously meant as a snub to Britain and America. From recent speeches and statements it is clear that the main cause of the whole trouble is that the British and the Americans do not like de Gaulle and the French Committee, which now admittedly is a fully representative body of all sections of Frenchmen except French Fascists and Vichy collaborators. Why then object to the Committee and General de Gaulle? The speeches at Algiers, coupled with Mr. Churchill's ill-executed reticence, stimulate curiosity further. Incidentally, the Special Session of the French Consultative Committee was held to mark the fourth anniversary of de Gaulle's fighting broadcast from London to the French. Does that, we wonder, touch any chord now of Mr. Churchill's memory?

British Labour Support To Indian Industrialists' Plan

"Authors Are No 'Yesmen,' But Apostles Of Industrial Revolution Associated With National Independence Movement"

(From Our Correspondent)

LONDON, June 19.

Members of Parliament have now received a copy of the Indian Industrialists' Plan published by Penguine. To some, it is all 'Greek", they doubt whether they have sufficient expert knowledge to make any observations.

Miss Elinor Rathbone said, she does not feel she knows enough about the rather technical subject of economic development of India.

Sir Herbert Williams was frank to confess to your correspondent it would be most unwise to attempt to comment. He added, there are great many members of Parliament who are familiar with Indian conditions through residence there and we ought to rely more on their views than someone who has not visited India though read much about it. Even Lord Addison said, he simply has not time to make observations on such a plan.

Earl Huntingdon, Earl Winterton, Mr. Hore Belisha, Mr. Anuerin Bevan, Mr. Alfred Knox and Mr. Graham White are deeply interested in the plan but want some time to study it before offering views thereon, but here are the views of three labourites.

EXAMPLE FOR WORLD

In any exclusive interview, Mr. F. W. Pethick Lawrence said: "I find the bold 15-year plan set out by the authors to be most stimulating. I hope that the united and enlightened Indian Government will set some such objective before itself. Under proper public control and coupled with a reformed distribution of wealth it would lift the peoples of India out of their present deplorable poverty. Even if only partially realised it would be a fine example set before the world."

NO "YES-MEN"

Mr. Fenner Brockway, Secretary to the I. L. P. said, the authors of the plan are the core of capitalist financial intreests associated with winter independence movement they are the eight apostles of industrial revolution in India. We shall make a mistake however if we dismiss the plan as merely a conscious self-interested design to further their own economic interests. In contrast to many Indian industrialists and financiers, most of them proved for years, they are not prepared to be "yes-men" of British authorities. Some of them have shown real love for India and a desire to see her people lifted from poverty, disease and ignorance. The plan has fundamental and fatal limitations of any capitalist document but this passion for resurrected independent India has led to two things unprecedented in any plan which has before emerged from capitalist sources. It approaches the problem with needs of the people and because of the authors' desire to be free from foreign financial domination, it throws over the orthodox conception of money.

CHOICE FOR FREE INDIA

Mr. Reginald Reynolds commented that the plan should be considered in comparison with the present regime in India rather than in contrast to the Socialist solution. I regard the scheme as an indication of a minimum programme that may result from national freedom of India and sufficiently in advance of any plans ever initiated by British rulers to show that self-government at it is worst may force the Indian capitalist to commit himself heavily to reform in order to avoid the possibility of a social revolution. What is most important for to bear in mind is, this is a scheme which India must be free to accept or reject in part or in entirety and the struggle of the Congress is still essentially and for all other things a struggle for that principle.

LASKI'S RETORT TO GAMMANS

Britain Responsible For India's Plight

(From Our Correspondent)

LONDON, June 19.

When future India came up for discussion at a meeting of the Brains Trust organised by Progressive Businessmen's forum(debating post-war Britain. rich or poor?) there was a wordy duel between Prof. Harold Laski and Captain Gammans (Conservative M.P.) . Captain Gammans said, Britain has done more than enough for India. Captain Gammans posed "how can you expect India to be independent when the country is rampant with child marriages, corruption, etc.?" Capt. Gammans added: It is for Indians to help themselves. India in her own interest must remain part of the Empire and develop herself economically.

Prof. Laski retorted Britain has done many misdeeds in India did no help her people to raise their standard of living. If India thinks, she must not remain in the Empire the choice is hers, whereto Britain must submit instead of coercing her.

Prof. Laski added: Britain must hold herself responsible for the evils of such child-marriges, corruption, etc., that exist in India. After ruling India for over 150 years Britain has not brought literacy to India. She has burdened her with taxes for military defence of the country, instead of for mental equipment of her people.

Sir Richard Acland, Mrs. Corbett Ashby, Mr. Campbell denounced Capt. Gammans' arguments as typical diehard English-American and applauded Prof. Laski.

Bombay City Fathers Adjourn To Honour Memory Of Acharya P. C. Ray

A resolution placing on record its sense of sorrow at the death of Dr. Prafulla Chandra Ray, a great patriot, a great educationist, an ardent social reformer and a friend of the poor, was passed at a meeting of the Bombay Municipal Corporation on Thursday.

Mr. Nagindas T. Master, Mayor who presided at the meeting made a feeling reference to Acharya Ray whom he hailed as a scientist of international repute who had brought great honour and glory to his motherland.

Mr. Motichand Kapadia, Mr. M. M. Killedar, Dr. Alban D'Souza and Mr. Jamnadas Dwarkadas associated themselves with the sentiments expressed by the Mayor.

The meeting was adjourned thereafter.

Mr. Nagindas T. Master said: "Before we proceed with the business before the meeting, I must refer to the passing away of a great Indian—I mean Sir Prafulla Chandra Ray. Acharya Ray as he was widely known was not only a benefactor of Indian people but also a great benefactor of mankind. A scientist of International repute, he pressed the services of Science into relief and redress of humanity. Unlike many, he felt that the economics suitable to India and poor countries like India were not those relied on and followed in Industrial countries of the West. Unsurpassed by any except Mahamaji in his faith in Khadi as the most suitable programme for the poor millions of India, he has done more in that direction than perhaps any single individual, and though he has died at the age of 80, if he had survived for a few years more, he would have been very helpful in the post-war plannings in this country. A great scientist of International fame and a reputed scholar, a great patriot, a friend of the poor and suffering, as inspiring guide of students, an ardent social reformer he has brought great honour and glory to his motherland. The Bengal Chemical and Pharmaceutical Works, Indian Chemical Society, his great work of Hindu Chemistry are among the many monuments he has left. If any one was deservedly called Acharya, it was Sir Prafulla Chandra Ray. In his death India has lost a great son and the world a high noble soul."

Mr. Motichand Kapadia moved the following resolution which was passed all standing.

"That the Corporation have learnt with deep regret of the death on 16th June 1944 in Calcutta of Sir Prafulla Chandra Ray, who was not only a great patriot but also a pioneer of scientific movement in this country, a great educationist, an ardent social reformer, a friend of the poor and guide to the students and who in these and various other capacities rendered lasting services to the country and to the Scientific World.

BENGAL COUNCIL'S GRIEF FOR P. C. RAY'S DEATH

CALCUTTA, June 19

The Bengal Legislative Council today unanimously adopted a resolution expressing "its deepest sorrow and sense of irreparable loss which the country has sustained at the demise of Acharya Sir P. C. Ray, who distinguished himself under his long life as a scientist of international reputation, creator of an Indian School of Chemistry, founder of a Great Chemical Industry in India, helper of the poor and the distressed and above all as a philanthropist and selfless man." The Council also conveyed its sincerest sympathies to the bereaved members of his family.

As a mark of respect to the memory of Sir P. C. Ray, the House was adjourned without transacting any business.

BENGAL ASSEMBLY ADJOURNS

CALCUTTA, June 19. The Bengal Legislative Assembly also adjourned this afternoon without transacting any business as a mark of respect to the late Sir P. C. Ray.

The condolence meeting was observed by Vidyarthi Mandal for Acharya Prafulla Ray at Jain Temple and also passed a proposal for his condolence.

* * *

The Council of the National Liberal Federation of India has urged on Government "to release unconditionally Congressmen who have not been found guilty of violence."

But a sensitive Government may very well want to know what the Council meant by "not been found guilty" of violence, suspecting that the Liberals were questioning the Ordinance given judicial right of the executive to adjudge guilt without due process of any law.

* * *

The Council also appeals to the Congress Party to put aside the said (August 1942) resolution and take measures to arrive at a working arrangement with other political parties etc., etc.

Which is all very admirable. But it is rather difficult to see how anything could be put aside when it wasn't taken up. Incidentally what do these old gentlemen mean by "Congress Party" and where do they think it can be found in order to consider their suggestion?

ARMY NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR SHORTAGE OF POTATOES

MADRAS, June 19.

Army responsibility for the present potato shortage in Madras is strongly denied in a press note issued today from G H Q, Southern Army.

The main cause of the present shortage is that the Nilgiri crop has practically finished. The partial failure of the subsidiary June "swamp crop" in the Nilgiris has been a contributory factor. May, June and early July always tend to be barren months with resulting high prices, but nothing that the Army has done is in any way responsible for this situation.

TO ALL CLOTH DEALERS

In a recent Notification issued by the Textile Commissioner it is laid down that all cloth packed in and Texmarked April 1944 or earlier, all unpriced hand printed cloth and any stocks that may remain without a price mark or Texmark or both are to be finally disposed of before the 31st December 1944.

There are many ready buyers and all dealers holding stocks of such cloth are urged, in their own interests, to sell at once to allow for possible delays in transport. If sales are delayed retailers will not be disposed to buy, as there will be insufficient time for them to sell the cloth. The cloth will then be left in the hands of the holders and they will then be liable to cancellation of their dealer's licence, prosecution, and confiscation of the goods.

No exemptions to this notification will be given by the Textile Commissioner save for the most compelling reasons So sell your cloth without delay.

The surest way to have a car as long as the war lasts is to take the very best care of the one you have got. Here is what you can do to safeguard your car.

1. Avoid "racing" the engine during the warm-up period. Speeding up the engine will use a needless amount of petrol and increase the wear on pistons, piston rings and cylinders.

2. Don't speed. You get as much as 40% more mileage at 30 m.p.h. than you do at 50.

3. Don't pour cold water into an overheated engine, as it is likely to crack the cylinder block.

4. Oil is cheaper than metal; so keep your car correctly lubricated by using not only the right kind but also the right amount of lubricant.

5. Keep tyres properly inflated. Soft tyres require extra power and petrol to propel the car.

6. Change the wheels at regular intervals, rotating with the "spare" to get maximum tyre life.

FOR "ECONOMY ADJUSTMENTS" see your local General Motors dealer. He will keep your vehicle serving well by keeping it well serviced.

The Half-Column "By Dim"

Here is a strange case which might have escaped your notice. A case which has caused much uneasiness in Britain is that of a Negro soldier convicted by a Court Martial of the offence of raping an Englishwoman. The Court Martial sentenced the Negro to death. According to the "Chronicle's" London correspondent "the medical examination showed no signs of the alleged force having been used." A petition of 32,000 signatories was presented to General Eisenhower, who, amid the din of battle, replied to the signatories as follows: "Extreme penalties are never approved by responsible American authorities, except where circumstances are of the most aggravating nature. In this particular case I have been informed that there are many mitigating circumstances; therefore, I feel safe in saying that a final review of the case will unquestionably result in commutation of the sentence." The final decision now rests with President Roosevelt.

Courteousness must be the hallmark of civilisation, judging from the fact that Mahatma Gandhi calls the Viceroy "Dear Friend" and Wavell replies "Dear Mr. Gandhi." Tottenham doesn't like this one bit.

IN War Time Demurrage represents a loss to you, a loss to the Railways and more important still a loss to the country's war effort.....

Heavy Demurrage Bills invariably mean that the wagons allotted for your goods are not being loaded and unloaded as promptly as they should be.....Do you ever inquire into the reason for this?....Are you sure that all such delays are unavoidable?.....Your forwarding and clearing staff or agents can help to minimise them by simple precautionary measures such as ascertaining the likely time of arrival of consignments or when wagons will be made available for loading and by arranging beforehand to clear the traffic immediately.....

Sugar-manufacture is a laboratory process on a huge scale. The quality and quantity of the sugar produced depends on getting the cane to the mills at the exact moment of ripeness, and with all the juice that the sun can sweeten in its veins.

Hence the scientist in the factory must persuade the peasant in the field to plant better types of cane, to cultivate them more methodically, and to cut them for the mills at the right moment. The prosperity of the manufacturer depends on the prosperity of the grower—their interests are interlocked.

That is why a well-run Sugar factory is a national asset in an agricultural country.

YOUR STOMACH NEEDS: A REGULATOR

Stomach is the most vital organ in the human machine and a bad handling, of this most important organ leads to a complete disaster. Once the stomach begins to function irregularly the human body falls a victim to various disorders and complaints. Loss of appetite, flatulence, heavy head, insomnia, nausea, vomiting, constipation, looseness of bowels, dyspepsia and a host of other symptoms appear and gradually make a man completely unfit for any strain and hard work. To-day a delicate mechanism like a ten needs proper regulating both for its endurance and for the comfort of the consumer. So a delicate and more intricate organ like stomach should always be looked and regulated with care. If you notice any irregularity, use Camphit to avoid further disorders.
